

Next Education wins award

Hyderabad, Apr 26 : Hyderabad-headquartered Next Education India Pvt Ltd, a leading E-learning Technology Company in India, has been awarded 'Corporate -Innovation in Teaching Pedagogy' at the World Education Summit 2013 at New Delhi for MathsLab.

World Education Summit is a premier platform on education for everyone who is passionate about education and learning, the company said in a release here today. Based on the ideology of 'LAB' (Learn - Analyse- Build), MathsLab was an innovative platform where children do various activities, projects and simulations to discover mathematical ideas and validate formulae.

The aim is to merge the three aspects of Maths education - teacher sessions, student practice and hands-on activities. Next Education CEO Mr Beas Dev Ralhan said 'We are delighted to receive this award for MathsLab at the World Education Summit.

Our team will continue to develop such world-class content that makes teaching more easier, interactive and gives a next generation learning experience for students', he added.
